

The OLFU-Antipolo campus celebrated the World PT Day, last September 08, 2025, with a blast while also educating people on Healthy Aging for the Elderly. The department held an open-house exhibit showcasing a glimpse of what the college has to offer. From hands-on demonstrations to fun interactive displays, the day wasn't just about showing what PT can do – it was also about making everyone feel it. Some of the equipment were on display while certain others like TENS were up for a first-hand experience.

The event turned classrooms into discovery zones, sparking curiosity and pride in our growing PT family. It was more than just an exhibit, but also a reminder that Physical Therapy isn't just a profession — it's a movement.
